If one could take all colors--mix up red and black and green
There might appear the world of rainbows, the prettiest ever seen.
But since there is no way to create such a panorama-- Then all that is left are black splotches to tell this year's drama.
Ink smudged pages oft recount a school and its life,
So full of the many tribulations that enter like black night.
Thus with strokes both deft and sweeping, our school comes into view:

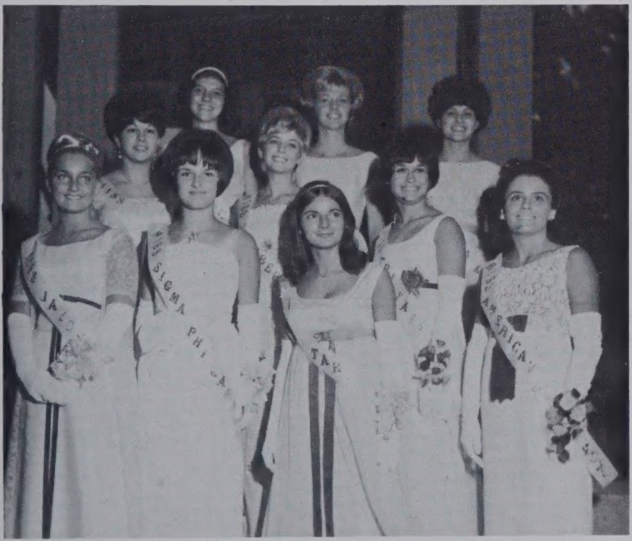
Crowning of Miss Garrett, Tina Wysong



The queen candidates are: FIRST ROW: Rhonda Ballentine, Carole Delong, Tina Wysong and Kathy Shreve. SECOND ROW: Debbie Buckles, Marianne Myers and Roxanne Isenbarger. THIRD ROW: Margo Januseski, Carol Roebel, and Michalee Lewis.

At the July 4 festivities the ten candidates for Miss Garrett presented their talent. Singing, dancing, and readings were among the various presentations.

The remainder of the pageant was held during Garrett Sidewalk Days. The girls attended a tea at Platner's Steak House on the afternoon of the final judging. That evening in the big gym the contestants appeared in formal gowns. They answered two questions each, neither of which they had heard before.

At the final moment Tina Wysong was crowned the 1966-67 Miss Garrett, and Rhonda Ballentine was runner-up.

Carol McIntosh Reigns as Football Queen

For the third time, Garrett's Pep Club sponsored a Football Queen crowning.

To select candidates, the football team chose four girls, one from each class. The students then voted to determine the queen.

Carol McIntosh, this year's winner, was crowned by last year's queen, Kay McKee, now a freshman at Indiana U.

"Mardi Gras" Is Junior-Senior Banquet Theme

The class of 1967 spent long hours in preparation for the Junior-Senior Banquet. It was held May 6, 1966, in the high school auditorium.

The theme of the banquet was "Mardi Gras". The co-chairmen of this gala festival were Cyndy Brechbill and Steve Boice.

This cafe scene was part of the entrance to the Mardi Gras.

A unique feature of the banquet was the ceiling from which were hanging many colored boxes.

Ruthann Grawcock puts the last strand of hair in place before hurrying to class.

Ready for the bonfire, is the Red Devil that was used in the snake-dance before the Auburn-Garrett game.

Students Assume Day

by Day Routine

As school begins again students learn to adjust to the daily routine. This involves hurrying to class, eating lunch in the cafeteria, paying club dues, and doing homework.

Football games, club activities, and pep rallies also become part of the routine.

As the days wear on and the novelty wears off, students settle down to the daily schedule.

"Our Town" was presented by the senior class on November 11 and 12. Many students participated in the cast and worked on the many committees. The dramatic scenes were a change for students as a comedy is usually given by the seniors.

Emphasis Shifts

Members of the 1967 Basketball Queen court were: Jane Ervin, Carol Roebel, Kathy Shreve, and Margo Januseski.

with Seasonal Changes

Pat Hunter, Mr. Roscoe and Marianne Myers plan the sets for "Oliver".

The all-school production this year was "Oliver". It is based on the novel OLIVER TWIST by Charles Dickens. Many long weeks were spent by the cast and the committees in preparation for this event. Directing the play were Mrs. Connie Zitlow and Mr. John Roscoe.

Council Capers was held on May 12 this year. It was a kick-off for the second annual Little 500 weekend. Carol Brennan was the head of the variety show and her assistant was Ethel Finn. Committee members were from the Student Council and many organizations participated.

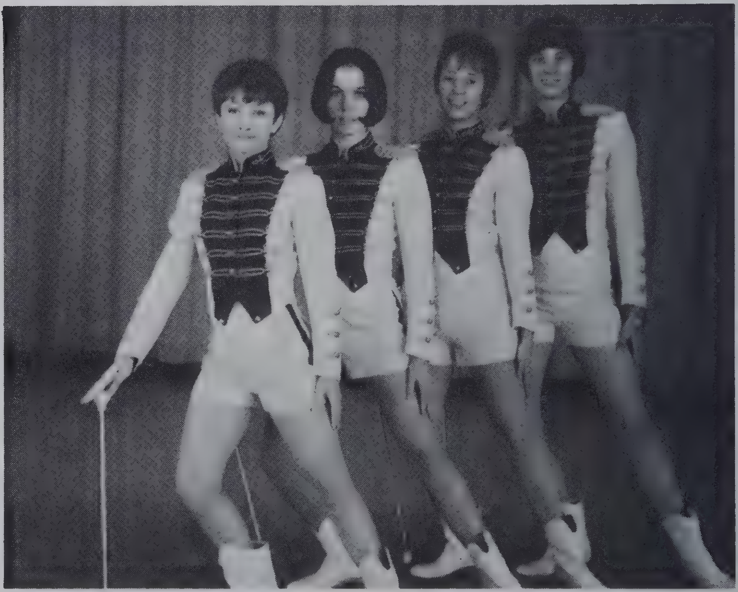
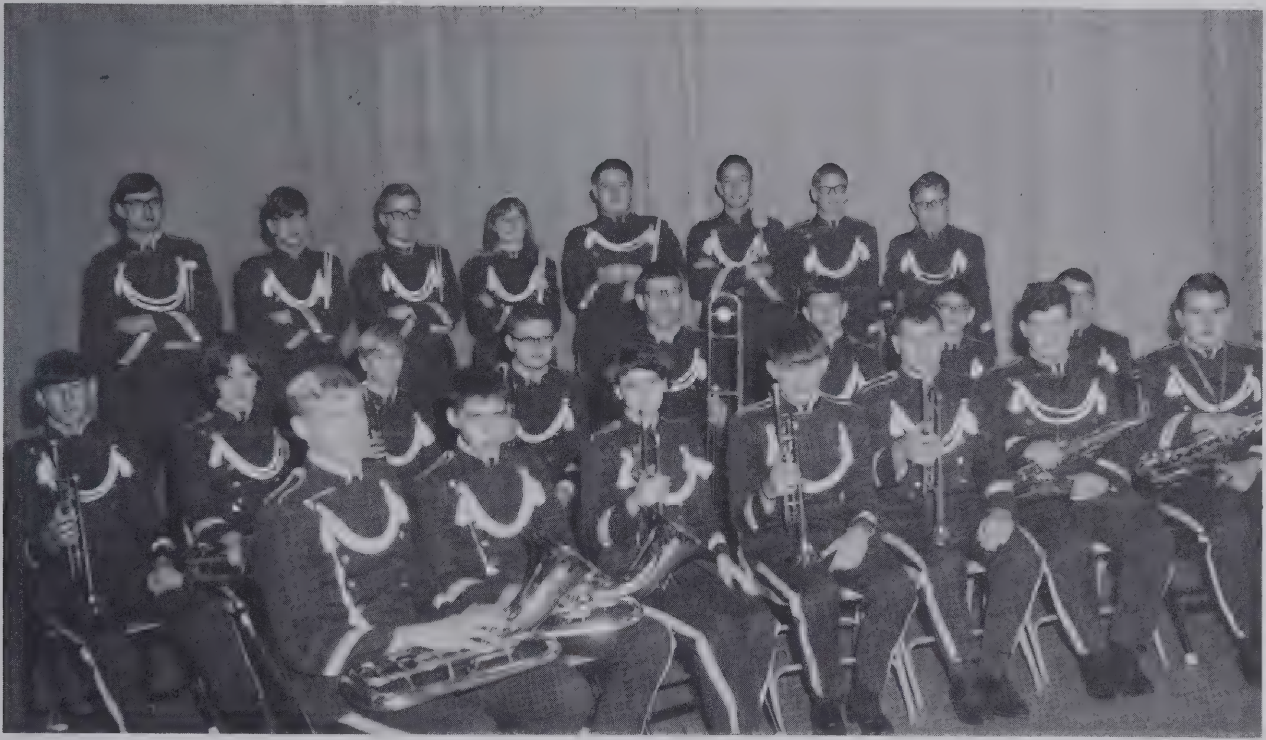
Garrett High School Band

The Garrett High School Band is an important part of school life. Under the direction of Mr. Brandt, the band is the most visible representation of GHS. At the fair in Auburn, at the football and basketball games and especially in their first-time demonstration of "Pass in Review", the band members showed their ability at making themselves heard. At various concerts, the band turned to more symphonic thoughts and showed what good orchestration really is.



This year's twirlers were: J. Thompson, J. Porter, L. Freeman, C. Carper.



Band members include: ROW ONE: J. Wallace, F. Peck, V. Bixler, J. Best, G. Vice, K. Fike, S. Roop; ROW TWO: L. Williams, C. DeLong, G. Glaze, P. Harter, V. Housel, M. Hervey, K. Rhodes, J. Burns; ROW THREE: E. Myers, C. Warner, C. Frey, S. Wiley, T. Carper, M. Rhodes, and R. Gall.

Garrett High School

The teachers at G.H.S. began the school year one day earlier than the students. On Tuesday morning, September 6, 1966, all of the teachers met in the Ober auditorium. Coffee and rolls were served.

They were addressed by Mr. Charles Puff, Superintendent. The rest of the day was spent in individual preparation for the first day of school.

Many new teachers walked the halls of Garrett High School for the first time. Getting used to a new routine was a difficult task which took them a few weeks to achieve.

Grading papers, giving tests, and sponsoring clubs again kept them busy.

A well trained faculty, devoted to the student's interest, is found at Garrett. Many of the teachers hold advanced degrees and are well qualified to teach in their specified subject areas.

In addition to actual graduate work, teachers also take advantage of specialized workshops and summer training sessions.

Faculty and departmental meetings also are a part of teacher's daily routine. At these meetings they share ideas and develop new methods of enriching the curriculum.

In all these areas the faculty attempts to improve and expand the facilities of the school. Without a faculty there is no school.

North Central Evaluates School

School business is taken care of by office workers Mrs. Clabaugh, Mrs. Ballentine, and Mrs. Cook.

Teachers are involved in a number of extra curricular activities. They sponsor various clubs, sell tickets at football and basketball games, chaperone record hops, and direct student plays.

During November the North Central Evaluation Committee visited our school. This group of professors and administrators evaluated the complete school system.

They visited classrooms and spoke to various students. It is an aid for Garrett students applying for college to have graduated from North Central school.

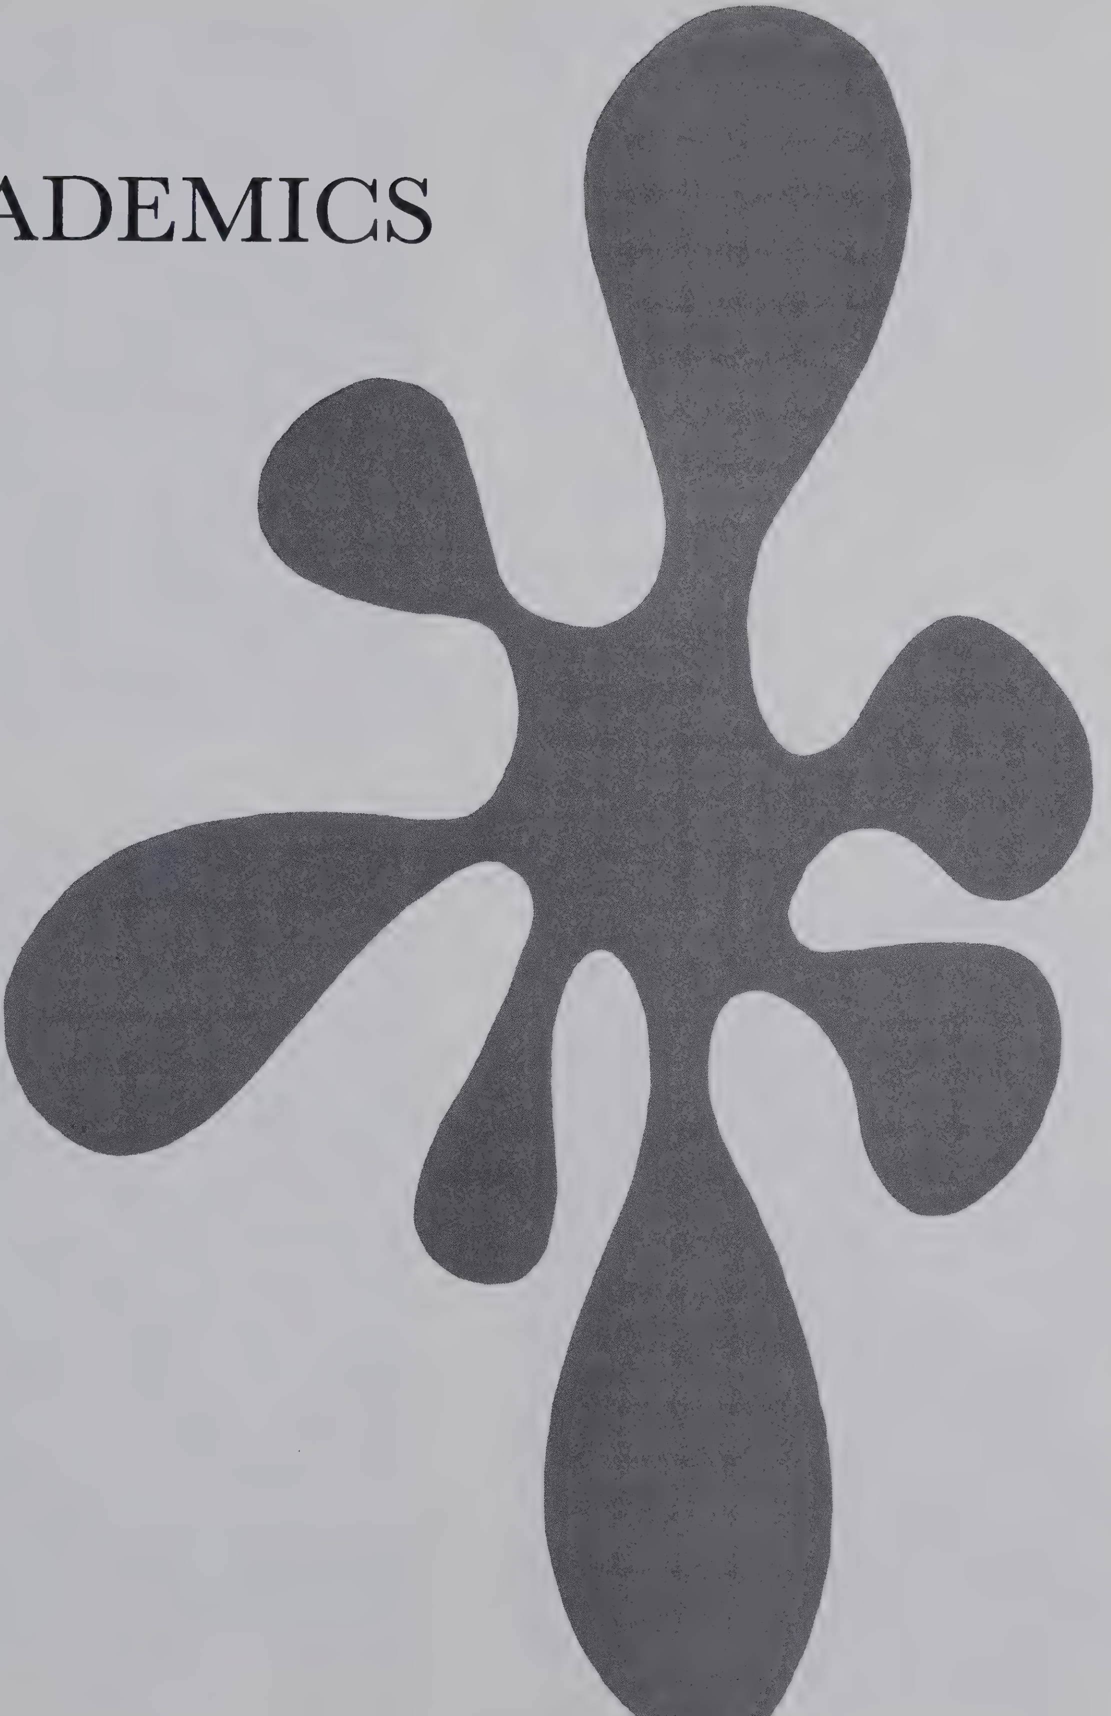
ACADEMICS



English Promotes Better Communication

Varied is the range of work in English. In addition to the regular three years of English, students may also take special courses in speech, journalism, and composition.

Countless materials, including paperbacks, class magazines, workbooks, films, and records, all add interest to the study of grammar and literature.

Dramatics groups, literary publications, and creative techniques by faculty members help make English a subject that has some life and meaning for the many students enrolled. Although English is a required course, it also proves challenging.

Bob Novy and Fran Cleland discuss sentence diagramming.

Term paper time! Anita Hartman busily takes notes for her Senior Composition research paper.

Tina Knapp gives a demonstration speech on how to use the dictionary.

Speech, although a part of the English program, has a special place in that here one can learn that often elusive art of oral communication.

Since speech and English are requirements for all Garrett students, these departments continue to work with a great number of Garrett students each year.

Thus, the department members this year formulated a new philosophy and curriculum for the coming years. This curriculum outlines the patterns for term papers, themes, book reports and other activities.

Speech Classes Result in Poise, Confidence

Looking puzzled, Joe Cromley analyzes an algebraic equation.

Explaining how to bisect an angle is the job of Ken Fike, sophomore geometry student.

Higher Math Intrigues,

The modern approach to math continues to work well in both junior and senior high levels.

New textbooks, introduced two years ago at Garrett, continue to interest and, at times, confuse the students.

A wide variety of courses are included in the general plan to make the study of mathematics a rewarding experience to all students.

Algebra I students listen to find out why they missed that last problem.

"Nothing to it," says Sandy Rosenberg as he works with a slide rule.

Vicki Craig, chemistry student, demonstrates the proper technique for reading the level of a test tube.

Rose Heitz and Sarah Haynes gleefully prepare to dissect a frog.

Science Challenges

The G.H.S. science program today attempts to meet the needs of all students through more technical work for the advanced students and general scientific study for those who wish a more simplified approach to science.

Physics students run an experiment regarding the coefficient of liner expansion.

Carol Schiffliand, Connie Tuttle make sure the pattern fits before cutting out their dresses.

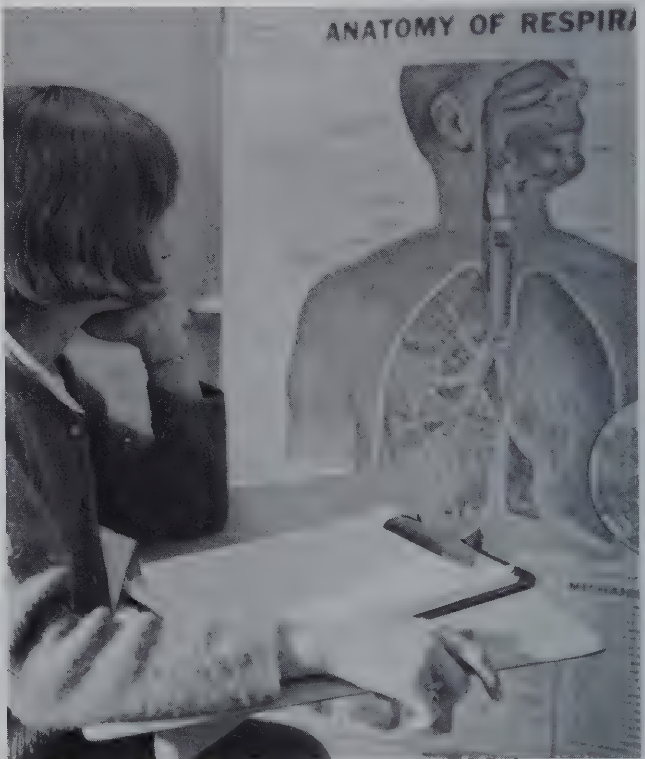
What's cooking? Mary Kay Clark works on a home ec. project.

Health, Home Ec. Solve Domestic Problems

Homemakers first; professional workers, second. Girls in the home economics program learn the basic knowledge necessary to maintain a happy home.

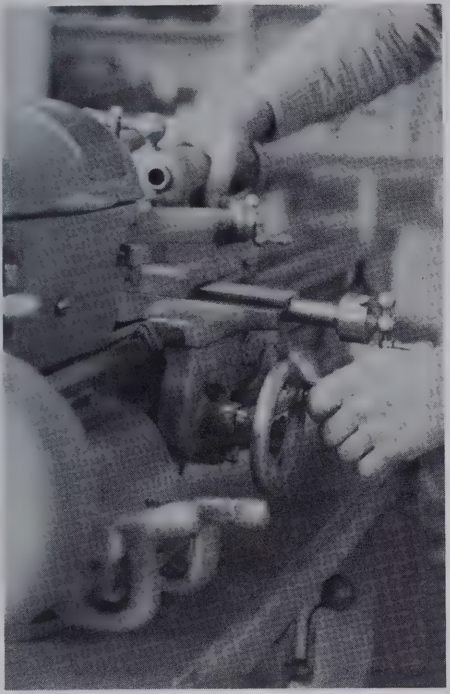
In the relaxed and modern labs, girls gain experience in the domestic arts.

In both the home economics and health classes students feel free to express their personal problems, knowing that they will receive advice in the many pressing questions of a teen-ager's life.



Susan Harvey studies a health chart.

Hands Skills Will Aid Students in Future



A student demonstrates proper technique of handling large machines.

Whether it is a town boy who loves to weld or a farm boy who loves the soil, Garrett's shop and agricultural programs satisfy such needs. Many of the skills learned in these fields prepare the participants for immediate use. The shop and agricultural rooms are centers of interest for many boys in grades 7 through 12.

Mechanical Drawing prepares the students for life in factories. They learn how to draw, scale certain mechanical parts, make house plans, and other such things concerned with the mechanical world.

These are a few of the many tools available to boys who take shop.

Sarah Haynes practices with skills learned in drawing class.

1+1 problems are not the type Linda Kahlke adds on the adding machine in her business course.

Practice may not make them perfect, but constant work in the various business courses does prepare G.H.S. students to do well in the business world.

Business courses do more than prepare students for jobs. Such essential skills as budgeting for a home, balancing a check, and finding out more about the complexities of credit buying and selling are other features that appeal to almost every student taking a class in the field of business.

A wide variety of business courses gives both depth and scope to the business field.

Typing is also a part of the business world. Skills gained in typing prove valuable to students in the future.

Big Business

A chance for physical as well as mental exercise is provided for students at G.H.S.

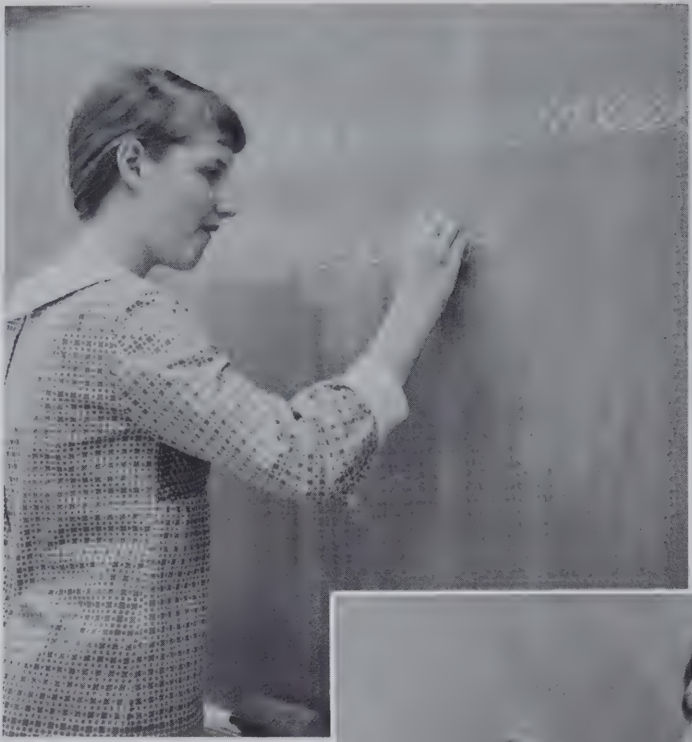
With ever mounting emphasis on the need for both healthy bodies and minds, students are given many opportunities to build themselves physically in regular gym classes in grades 7, 8, 9, and 11.

In Garrett's physical education program, all students are given an opportunity to participate in various intramural games both during and after daily classes.

Physical alertness also is necessary in the summer driver education program. This program attracts hundreds of students each year.

The Garrett summer recreational program continues to emphasize physical fitness.

Junior High girls practice volleying in sixth period gym class.



"Let's go to Spanish class" writes Mary Lengerich.

Spanish, Latin, and German are the foreign languages which attract various students to the study of other nations, their language, and customs.

Interest in foreign language is increasing because more and more people realize that communication with other nations is essential in this world where missiles and jets bring people closer.

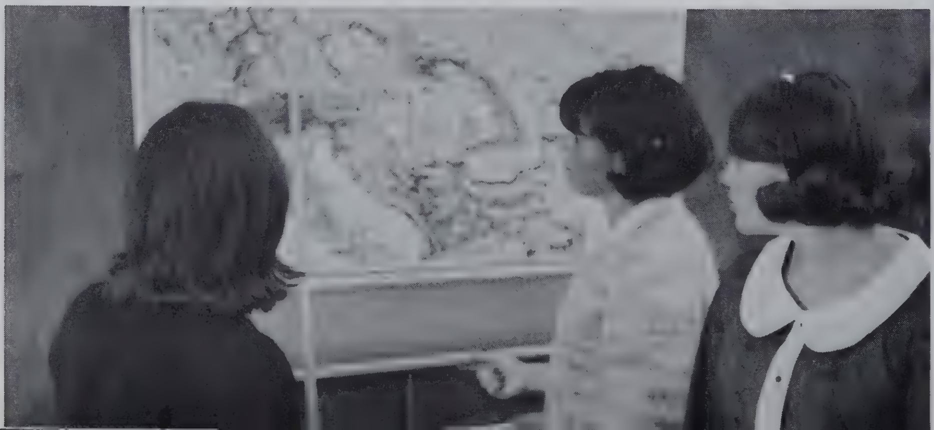
First year Spanish students look over A-LM materials.

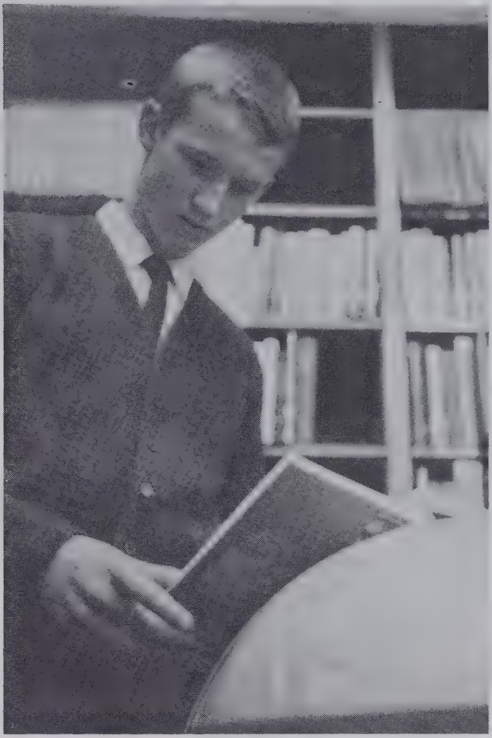
Languages Build Understanding



Rhonda Adams, first year German student, explains more about the land she is studying to Carol Brennan and Antonia Lilienthal, other Garrett foreign language students.

Past and Present Lead into the Future

"Wagon Ho!" Melanie Smith and Harold Smith decide as they look at history projects.



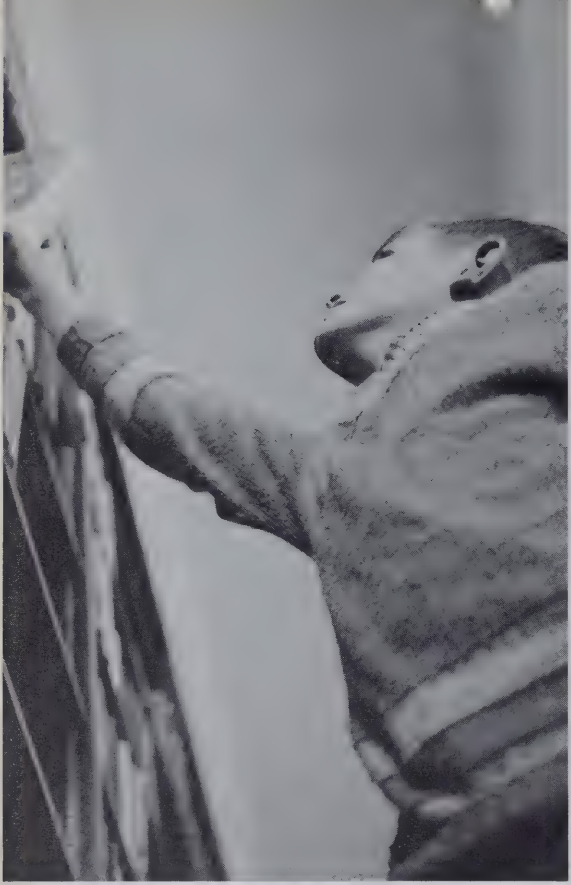
"Where is that country he was talking about?" ponders Lon Grubb.

To look back often helps one look ahead. Through the study of history and the other social sciences, one reaches the conclusion that through the continuity of time and nations, important ideas have developed--ideas that enhance our understanding, of ourselves, our state, our nation, and our world.

All social studies work attempts to develop within each student a basic understanding of what America is.

Through the social studies courses, one considers man and his world as truly a great drama with countless civilizations playing hundreds of acts.

Looking for world news for a history class, Jeff Best browses through a newspaper.



"There is no frigate like a book to take you worlds away."

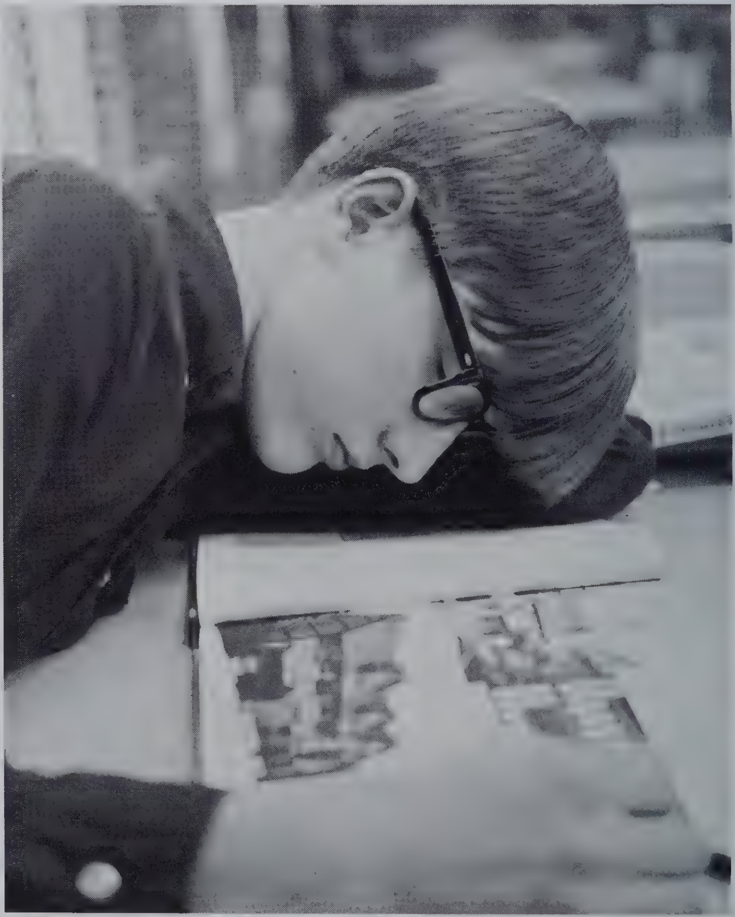
Students Make Use of Precious Study Time

If you like to read, if you like to browse, if you want to find out some new bit of information, then the Garrett High School library is an ideal spot.

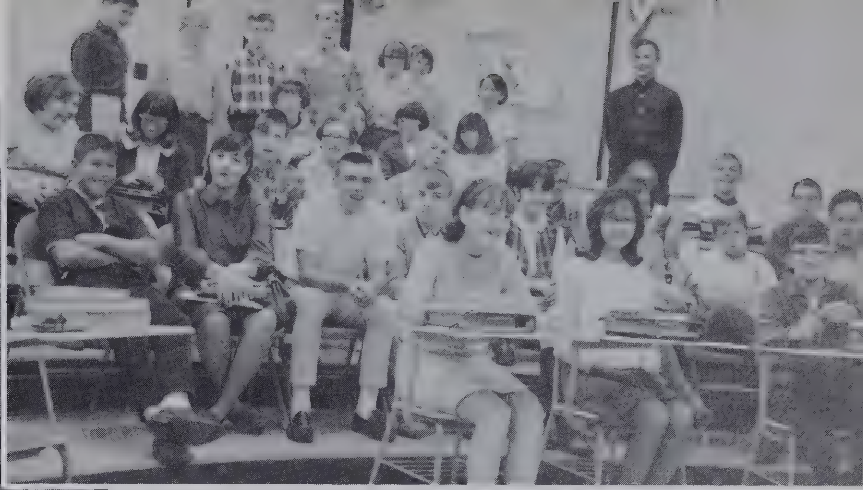
With more than 6,000 volumes, Garrett continues to have one of the finest libraries in this area.

Plans call for even more facilities to make the library an ideal learning center.

Linda Housel busily studies.



Not all students find their reading material interesting every moment. Tom Hoffman finds his advanced research on Shakespeare just "too much"!



Showing their enthusiasm, the eighth grade music class eagerly awaits the beginning of class.

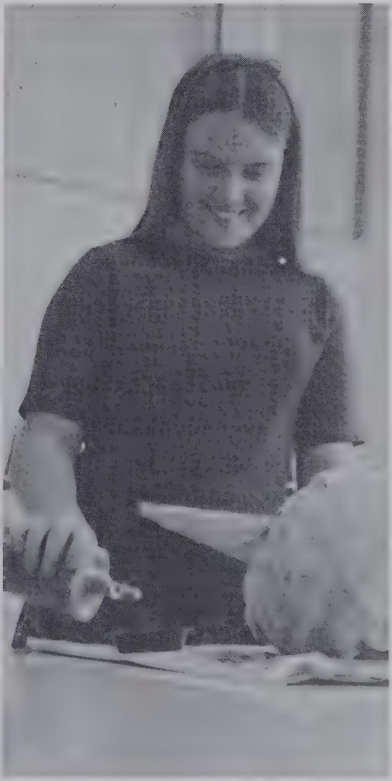
Chorus class warms up for music session.

Talents Are Revealed in Art and Music

Hands not before trained--with a little instruction--often can turn a piece of clay into a molded vase or a plain sheet of paper into a concept of beauty. Art classes offer the students a chance to use their creative skills and ideas.

Music classes give students the opportunity to enjoy a subject as well as learn about it. Many students take part in special chorus groups which put on special concerts, too.

Jo Ann Worman prepares paste for her papier-mache mask.



Hands help turn plain paper into beauty.

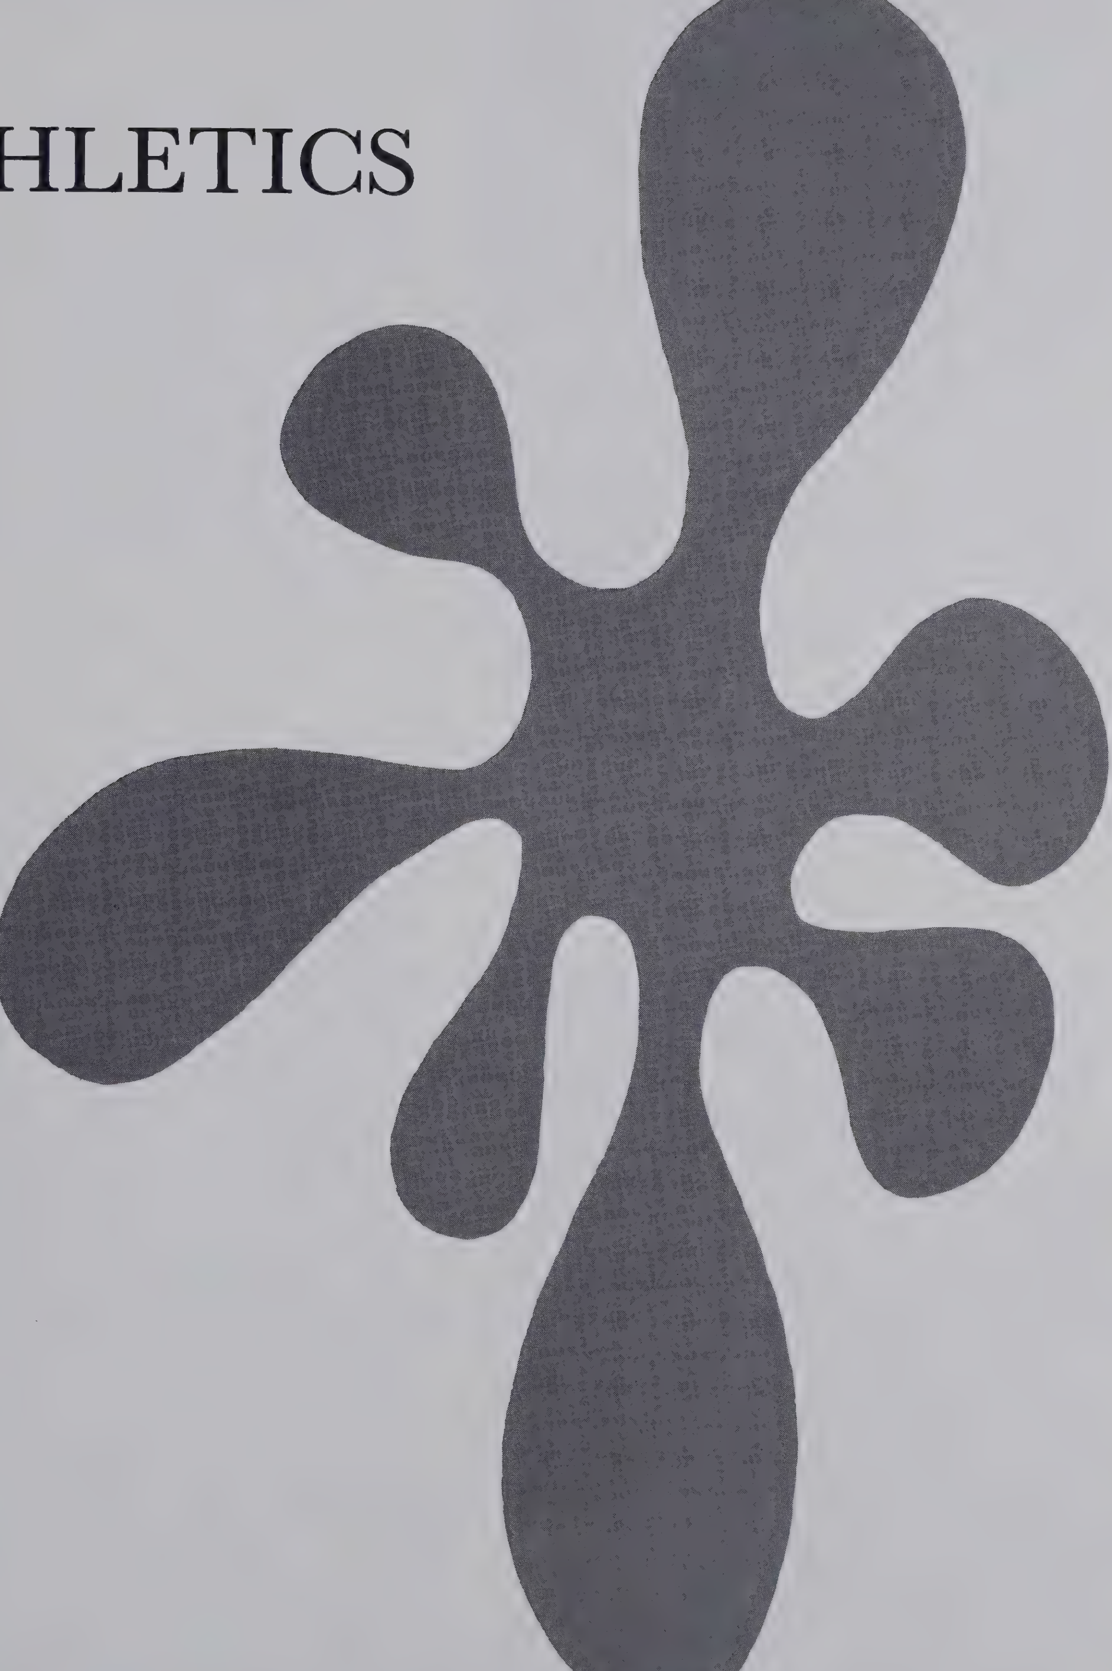
ATHLETICS



Season Hampered

Muddy, haggard but victorious Linebacker, Jim Peters, puts away his equipment after the K'ville football game.

Upon winning the first four games, Garrett looked as though it was heading for another victorious season. Then the plague struck. A siege of injuries hampered the mighty Railroaders. Falling back on younger and less experienced players, the G-men showed enthusiasm and spirit, but had to settle for four straight setbacks.

Broken ankles, broken collar bones, and dislocated joints headed the list of injuries. In spite of so many players unable to participate, the Railroaders showed great determination.

by Key Injuries

After defeating Decatur, Kendallville, Bluffton, and Angola, Garrett's luck changed. Injuries at the next game, Concordia, proved to be the fatal blow. Columbia City, Auburn, and Marion seemed to be too much for the weakened Railroaders to handle.

Garrett fell to the hands of their arch rival, Auburn, by the score of 24-12.

Powerful, 6th ranked Marion, invaded Garrett's gridiron on October 28. Many Garrett fans felt this to be the greatest mismatch of the season and the score, 63-0, verified the fact.

Anxious Railroaders watch as Garrett executes an exciting play.

Coach Capin gives fullback Tom Shafer encouragement as they watch the Railroaders in action.

Steve Lampe executes a good tackle as Jim Peters and Steve Andrews follow up the play.

This year the Garrett Railroaders had many outstanding players. Ron Cutler, unanimously chosen for the NEIAC All-Conference Team, alone accounted for nearly 500 yards rushing in the Kendallville game.

Another All-Conference choice was Steve Andrews, alias "Golden Toe". He did an excellent job kicking the pigskin for the Railroaders this year. With eight seconds remaining, Steve kicked a field goal to defeat Bluffton 22-20.

All-Conference second and third string choices Ron Freeze, Denny Feagler, and Phil Lemper plus Captain Dave Marti helped spark an aggressive defense.

Cross Country Shows Improvement

Realizing the importance of exercise, Yogi Carpenter and Lynn Kirkpatrick warm up before a meet.

Coach Ewing readies, advises team for victory.

The Garrett Cross Country Team, under the direction of Coach Robert Ewing, greatly improved in their second year of the sport. During the summer the boys spent long hours in preparation for the fall season. Hypnotism was introduced as a form of training, and this significantly aided in their performances.

The future looks bright and if individuals keep progressing, Cross Country should produce even better teams in coming years.

Little White Ball

Realizing the importance of clean equipment, Dave Clark prepares for the next match.

Golf and baseball produced many exciting moments, but neither team seemed to have the extra spark when the chips were down. Several times when the scores were identical, the opponent seemed to eke out the victory.

Due to a lack of experience, the Golf Team hit an all time low this season, winning only one match.

The Baseball Team, in its second year of Conference play, improved but still finished with a 3 win, 5 loss record. However, during summer play, they showed that a strong squad will return this year.

Garrett fans have grown accustomed to looking up at their team and this year was no exception. Although somewhat shorter than last year's team, the inexperienced Railroaders managed to make believers of the critics with an 18-5 won-loss record for the season.

Desire and hustle were the big factors in this year's production. Under the guidance of Coach Ron Hughes, the "Restless Railroaders" were nearly unbeatable. Perhaps some of the flashes of greatness were due to the youthful enthusiasm of the former Purdue great. Though the season was good, it might have been better if Mike Heitz, who had been averaging 26 points, had not broken his foot.

Seniors Head Successful Team

Although following in the shadow of an outstanding 1966 team, these eight seniors led their team to an 18-5 season. Realizing that this was their last year, spirit and determination ran high.

These seniors have every reason to be proud of their fine showing.

Underclass Squads Build for Future

The reserve team built a successful team on desire and hustle. Although their record was a fair 10 and 10 production, there were many thrilling games which were decided in the few remaining seconds.

The freshman team, also showing sparks of brilliance, was engineered by Coach Dick Capin. While establishing a respectable season, they gained much experience and should come on strong in future years.

All in all, Garrett fans can look forward to many coming seasons of good basketball. With seasoning and determination, Garrett's power will be felt for years to come.

Jack Clark and Brian Custer look skyward for the basketball.

Ron Kearns tips in two points as Dan Likes prepares for a possible rebound.

The mighty Railroaders fell in defeat to the hands of a talented East Noble team in the last game of the Kendallville sectional. East Noble managed to score with five seconds remaining in the game to break a tie.

The G-Men had defeated Auburn and Wawaka to gain the play-off with East Noble. As always, the team gave a fine showing of determination and sportsmanship.

Garrett gave an all-out performance but luck had run out. Though fighting in a losing cause, the fans were still proud of the team's showing.

Lonely Jerry Claxton.

Another integral part of the athletic program of the Garrett junior and senior high school is the excellent athletic preparation given boys from their early school years. Both the seventh and eighth grade teams had winning seasons this year. Garrett's seventh grade posted a 16-0 record for the season and the eighth grade had a 14 wins against only 4 losses for the season. Coaches Ed Mahnesmith and John Hutton worked tirelessly to help produce such excellent results.

Junior High Basketball

Pre-game warm up finds Jeff Stroman and Steve Runion loosening up.

The female side of junior high basketball is shown by the enthusiasm of these young ladies.

Brad Kinsey shoots over his opponents head in hopes of scoring two for the eighth grade.

JUNIOR HIGH BAND

The junior high band is another of those activities that help build interest for grades 7 and 8. Meeting three times a week with Mr. Brandt, band director, these students learn to play the varied instruments that are necessary for good band performances.

Whether figuring out an actual play or practicing for that hoped for chance to play, all Garrett boys interested in football find many opportunities to participate in actual team experiences. The discipline and coaching of these early years show worthwhile results in seasonal records. Coaches for this year were Cleo Miller and Ron Hughes, grades 7 and 8, and Ed Mahnesmith, grade 9.

Karen,
To a real good looking nice, sharp girl with plenty of "knew". Good luck always and keep your grades up.
Love Brad

Time
Runs Out

Another Year Ended Successfully

All the yearbook pages folded,
Many splotches out of place,
Where there should have been a mention
There may seem a lack of name or face.

But if one can take all these smudges
And around them carefully peer,
There still comes into sharp focus
The best that there was of this school year.

And so with fondest memories
Seniors leave each high school treasure,
And trust that every underclassman
Finds at GHS as much reward and pleasure.

Karen,
~~To~~ a real neat & nice girl.
Good luck in the future.

Karen-
Best of luck to you all ways and always in whatever you do. Remember all of the fun we've had together in 4-H. How could you possibly forget. Rita
